DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hosking (1,843,675). Hosking discloses a front (4) and rear (5) punch nipping and pressing a metal material (7). Means (8,9) press and rotate the punches in opposite directions (page 1, lines 90-95).

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Eklund et al. (3,470,720). Eklund discloses a front (1) and rear (2) punch pressing a material material (11). Means (7,8) rotate the punches in opposite directions (column 4, lines 1-9).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1 and 3-11 are allowed. The prior art of record does not disclose; in a method comprising first and second press steps for generating strain in a metal material with the first step forming front and rear convex-concave surfaces and the second step forming front and rear plane surfaces; wherein the second press step gives the metal a static hydraulic pressure and shear force with a front and rear punch rotating oppositely to one another.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
